

Amanda McMillian Edmondson – Bio

The Lord has given Amanda a heart for helping youth, serving previously as a mentor for the RCH and church youth leader for many years. Amanda holds an MPA from the University of Georgia and has worked in various aspects of local government community planning and development since 2005. Amanda is the Dawson County Director of Downtown Development and CEO of Edmondson Commercial Interiors and consults as a professional planner as well as an interior designer. Amanda currently uses her training as a project management professional, paralegal, and CVIOG Local Government Financial Officer as the RCH Executive Board Chair; seeking to strengthen the organization's ability to help more girls